Mr. Jain,

Should any issues arise please call our dispatch at 310-732-3500. Since this is a board meeting the only way we would get involved would be if a crime is committed. We can't intervene if they are just being loud, disruptive or verbal. The control of the meeting falls on the individual leading it. I wished I would have known but I am already gone for the day. You can call me on my cell if you have questions. How many people are you expecting?

Good Afternoon Sgt Alvarez,

Our meeting is today at 7 pm. However, I think Tom's intention was to just make sure I had a contact just in case we did have to call someone. We are hoping for a peaceful and productive board meeting with no need to contact the police. Thank you so much.

Warmly,
Sakshi

Tom,

For something like this with such a short notice it is best you call me on my cell below. Advance planning would have been preferred as we require the approval of our command when our watch gets extended. How did it go and were there any issues? Is there any other future meetings?

Sgt Alvarez, how are you? Long time no see. This email probably seems like its out of left field so I'll try to give you a brief background.

GANAS Academy is a charter elementary school that will be opening next year either in Wilmington or Carson--that's where the controversy comes in. GANAS wants to open in Wilmington but LAUSD is forcing it to open on one of their campuses (Catskill Elementary) in Carson. Not GANAS' fault but now the Catskill parents and UTLA (united teachers los angeles) are all pissed off and have shown up at the past two GANAS meeting and caused problems.

This Weds at 7pm, GANAS will be holding another board meeting at POLAHS in one of our classrooms. Is there a chance that there could be even a small police presence at the beginning of the meeting? Last time the UTLA folks were so disruptive that the GANAS people had to stop the meeting.

I cc'd Sakshi Jain on this email so you or someone from the department could follow up with her should you feel the need. Sakshi is the Principal/Executive Director of the school.

Thanks for you time,

Tom Scotti
